Museum Displays Art of Resident

Connor Everts, artist from Torrance, will be the lone participant from the area who will exhibit artwork in the Long Beach Museum of Art program entitled Arts of Southern California.

Everts will exhibit collage, which is artwork done with textures—tissue, fabrics, etc. This invitational show is comprised of 24 Southland artists and will feature 36 collage pieces recommended by prominent men in the field of art.

Everts and the 35 other artists exhibiting were selected by Warren Beach from the Fine Arts Gallery of San Diego, Don Brewer from the Art Center in La Jolla, James Foster of the Santa Barbara Museum of Art, Dr. Thomas Leavitt of the Pasadena Art Museum, and Kenneth Ross from the Department of Municipal Art in Los Angeles.

Twice each year, the Long Beach Museum of Art sponsors a series which surveys different types of art, whether it be oil painting, photography, sculpture, or collage as featured in October.

Each exhibit in this series, sponsored by Los Angeles County and gathered by the Long Beach Museum of Art, is placed on a national tour of art museums, galleries and schools. Collage will have its initial showing at this museum October 1 to 29.

CITY STATISTICS—Officials of the Mayfair Creamery this week launched an unusual idea directed at publicizing the city of Torrance and informing the residents about the community in which they live. On the outside of each half-gallon carton of milk produced by the company is a list of 53 questions most frequently asked about Torrance, complete with answers. Here Councilman Nicholas Drale congratulates "Tip" Lackey, Mayfair's sales manager, on the unusual idea. Questions and answers were provided by the Torrance Chamber of Commerce.

SPURRED BY SUCCESS, Ellis Albertson, owner of Park Barber Shop, now with two locations, recently installed the second shop at 2756 Sepulveda Blvd., Torrance. Before the opening date of his second shop two months ago, Albertson was proprietor of a Park Shop at 23645 Arlington at the intersection of 237th St. Open seven days, from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. on weekdays and 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Sundays, the Park locations offer a complete barber service. Rates, lowest in town, are $1.50 for adults and only $1.05 for boys under 12 years of age. All cuts are $1.50 on Saturdays and Sundays. Albertson's first shop, which was opened a year ago in March, because of expert workmanship and reduced prices, grew to have such a clientele that Albertson was encouraged to open another Park Barber Shop. Now he has two locations, 2756 Sepulveda Blvd. and 23645 Arlington, where he offers these reduced prices along with expert workmanship.
